

The Ask

Collecting more than 60 articles written by Bonnie Miller Rubin for the Chicago Tribune between 2011 and 2014, Ask the Expert is a go-to source for questions about health and family. Each article in the series features an interview with a specialist, including a gerontologist, a clinical social worker, and a neuroscientist, among many others. The interviews are concise yet instructive, and Bonnie Miller Rubin's introductory commentary for each article combines helpful foundational information and snappy, engaging writing. Ask the Expert covers a wide variety of topics from cardiovascular troubles and women's hair loss to alternative medicine and avoiding children's mood swings. The first section of the book includes articles about health, covering areas such as aging, end-of-life care, brain health, cholesterol, medical advancements, and mental health. Also included are sections on nutrition, exercising and weight loss, as well as pregnancy, parenting, and women's health. The final section of the book includes articles about lifestyle and family issues.

A theoretical and empirical analysis of the disposition of malpractice claims compares the actual outcomes with the legal standard of payment equal to damages, if, and only if, negligence occurred. An economic model of the settlement process assumes that the litigants attempt to maximize wealth, subject to the legal standards of liability and damage, and the costs of litigating. The model predicts that awards in settlements out of court will reflect the expected verdict, the probability of the plaintiff's winning, and the costs of going to court. The probability of the plaintiff's winning in settlement will also reflect the probability of winning in court, the size of the expected verdict, and the costs of going to court. Evidence from three malpractice claims surveys is consistent with the legal standard but departs in ways predicted by the model. Characteristics of the injury, the plaintiff, and the defense influence the outcome.

Includes Sample Letters, Real World Examples, Style Tips, New Chapters on E-mail, Websites, Social Media, and More... Now in a completely revised third edition, this classic book shows how to create winning appeals that will realize the full potential of direct mail and online fundraising. Jeff Atman, een gehaaide en overwerkte journalist, is in Venetië om de aftrap van de Biennale te verstaan. Hij verwacht veel kunst te zien, zich bij veel chique feestjes naar binnen te kunnen kletsen, en veel te veel bellini' ' s te drinken. Hij had niet verwacht de intrigerende Laura te ontmoeten, die zijn korte verblijf in de stad volledig zal transformeren. Een andere stad, een andere opdracht. Een journalist bevindt zich op de oever van de Ganges in Varanasi. Te midden van de mensenmenigtes, de ghats en de chaos van een van de belangrijkste pelgrimsoorden binnen het hindoeïsme wacht hem een transformatie van een heel andere soort. Jeff in Venetië, de dood in Varanasi is een volstrekt uniek en verrassend tweeluik over liefde, kunst en verlangen. Daarmee komt hij dicht in de buurt van typische Thomas Mann-thema ' s zoals verlangen naar schoonheid en een verloren jeugd, maar met een geheel eigen intelligente, scherpe en geestige stijl die deze roman uitzonderlijke brilje geven.

"This book will give anyone the confidence to ask anyone for any size gift for any purpose. With winning language, sample dialogues, and a wealth of tips and tools, this book addresses common mistakes made when asking and shows how to correct each mistake, providing guidance and direction on how to make a great ask. This third edition will be updated to include new dialogue, a balance of practical tips, tools, and advice, and will demonstrate through examples and stories how the tips, tools and advice can be instantly applied to business, philanthropy, and everyday living"--

Todd Hewitt is de laatste jongen in Prentisstown. Een unieke stad, want in Prentisstown klinkt continu het overheersende, schreeuwend geluid van gedachten. Alles wat leeft denkt hardop. Ook de dieren. Ook Todd. Dat is de dagelijkse orde: je kunt er niet aan ontsnappen. Er is geen privacy. Er zijn geen geheimen. Tenminste, dat denkt Todd. Een maand voordat hij een man zal worden, stuit hij onverwacht op... stilte. Hij dacht dat dat onmogelijk was. Maar Prentisstown heeft gelogen. En met die wetenschap slaat Todd op de vlucht... Het razend spannende, overveldigende tweede deel uit De Chaos-trilogie. Wie begint met lezen raakt hartstochtelijk verslaafd!

This volume assembles for the first time a staggering multiplicity of reflections on John Fante's 1939 classic, Ask the Dust, a true testament to the work's present and future impact. The contributors to this work—writers, critics, fans, scholars, screenwriters, directors, and others—analyze the provocative set of diaspora tensions informing Fante's masterpiece that distinguish it from those accounts of earlier East Coast migrations and minglings. A must-read for aficionados of L.A. fiction and new migration literature, John Fante's "Ask the Dust": A Joining of Voices and Views is destined for landmark status as the first volume of Fante studies to reveal the novel's evolving intertextualities and intersectionalities. Contributors: Miriam Amico, Charles Bukowski, Stephen Cooper, Giovanna DiLello, John Fante, Valerie Forme, Teresa Fiore, Daniel Gardner, Philippe Garnier, Robert Guffay, Ryan Holliday, Jan Louter, Chiara Mazzucchelli, Meagan Meylor, Jaime Morrison, Nathan Rabin, Alan Rifkin, Suzanne Maniza Roszak, Danny Shain, Robert Towne, Joel Williams

Provides a curriculum consisting of twenty-four lessons, explaining what improvisation is, techniques, and how to start an improvisation team.

A memoir of friendship and literature chronicling a search for meaning and comfort in great books, and a beautiful path out of grief. Anne Gisleson had lost her twin sisters, had been forced to flee her home during Hurricane Katrina, and had witnessed cancer take her beloved father. Before she met her husband, Brad, he had suffered his own trauma, losing his partner and the mother of his son to cancer in her young thirties. "How do we keep moving forward," Anne asks, "amid all this loss and threat?" The answer: "We do it together." Anne and Brad, in the midst of forging their happiness, found that their friends had been suffering their own losses and crises as well: loved ones gone, rocky marriages, tricky child-rearing, jobs lost or gained, financial insecurities or unexpected windfalls. Together these resilient New Orleanians formed what they called the Existential Crisis Reading Group, which they jokingly dubbed "The Futillitarians." From Epicurus to Tolstoy, from Cheever to Amis to Lipspector, each month they read and talked about identity, parenting, love, mortality, and life in post-Katrina New Orleans, in the year after her father's death, these living-room gatherings provided a sustenance Anne craved, fortifying her and helping her blaze a trail out of her well-worn grief. More than that, this fellowship allowed her finally to commune with her sisters on the page, and to tell the story of her family that had remained long untold. Written with wisdom, soul, and a playful sense of humor, The Futillitarians is a guide to living curiously and fully, and a testament to the way that even from the toughest soil of sorrow, beauty and wonder can bloom.

Raising More Money is an organization based in Seattle that coaches nonprofits on a system for raising sustainable funding from individual donors. Axelrod, the group's founder, here lays out the rules of engagement for the Ask Event, a one-hour gathering of a large group of people that focuses on an organization's mission in order to generate multiple-year pledges for operational funding. The goal is to get away from the hand-to-mouth, burnout-generating reality of most nonprofits, which often focus on a single year's financial goals at the expense of long-term survival. Axelrod's guide puts the event into a larger fund-raising context, explains how to prepare for and hold an Ask Event, and shows how to sustain the cycle.

This book offers a clear, yet comprehensive guide to how to structure a design project, focusing in particular on the key questions designers, architects, policy makers and health professionals should consider when working towards inclusion through design. The book is based on a series of lessons held by the author and his colleague Avril Accolla, whose aim was to train technicians at all levels to be capable of catering for the needs of the elderly. It clearly draws the outline of their "Ask the Right Question" approach, whose purpose is to help convey the notions in question appropriately to people with such widely different backgrounds, curricula, interests and cultures. Using a minimalist approach, based mainly on the discussion of eye-catching real-life examples placed in logical order and a crystal clear, engaging style, this book is a must-have for designers, technicians, customers and health practitioners, as well as social scientists and policy makers who deal with inclusive design at different levels and anyone interested in topics related to technological evolution and social integration.
